My dear Wife

K. Ch. 291201
Dix 1. 1. 1869.
C. 21 -

Several people called on me this day: and S. C. Delott dined with me here at Mr. Gwinne's — After dinner Mr. G. accompanied me to see Judge McLane whose child about 8 years old is very sick. He spared a few moments from his constant attention to his little boy to see me.
The purport of his conversation was that he was going first to Columbus & then to the City of Washington. — That at the former place he would get the Legislature to pass a similar resolution this Session to that when I last went to Washington: That when at the latter place he would exert himself to the utmost to obtain the grant of my Township: — and that it was his opinion I stood a much better chance this spring to be successful than when I was at Washington before

- and that is all probability I wd obtain my utmost wish.

You know how this gentleman stands. No man if he would suffer himself to be held up for President would stand a better chance or success. But he will not suffer himself to be named as Genl Jackson. His popularity will I hope aid me this winter at Washington not a little.

This evening we went to see Mr Johnston and family & have just returned.

Be 2. I can say no more now
